

NEW LISTINGS

This sprawling eight-room home is in the white-glove pre-war co-op at 912 Fifth Avenue. The loft-like home has a gracious living room with high ceilings, fireplace and massive picture windows overlooking Central Park. It also has a library and office facing the park. A formal dining room features built-ins and leaded French doors leading to a stainless steel chef's kitchen with custom wood cabinetry. The en-suite master bedroom offers more views and there is an additional sitting room/guest bedroom with full bath. Two maid's rooms have been refitted into a home gym with a newly re-done bath and adjacent laundry room. Stephanie Kanner and Alexis Mintz at Fox Residential have listed the home at $8.9 million.
